CARR SAYS LABOR SETUP NEEDED CHECK

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 10 — California's farm placement program, operating through the state department of employment, needed a shakeup to "clean its own house" in so far as the Mexican National importation program is concerned, according to John Carr, now state director of finance but former director of the department of employment under the administration of Governor Edmund G. Brown.

Carr, who was raised in Porterville, explained the background of his action that led to the firing of "Cap" Cunningham, southern California head of the farm placement service — an action that followed instigation of an investigation of the service, and the Mexican National program, by Carr.

"At no time did the Governor or officials of the department of employment say they were investigating growers or grower organizations using Mexican Nationals," Carr said.

"We were only cleaning our own house for benefit of the department of employment and the farm placement service, as well as for benefit of California agriculture generally and of the present state administration," Carr declared.

In discussing background of his departmental investigation that received varying and often critical comment from farm groups, Carr said that immediately after he received the appointment as head of the state department of employment, he received a number of communications charging misuse of Mexican National labor and loose administration within the farm placement service.

"After discussing the situation with various agencies of state government and with farm organizations, we determined that an investigation should be conducted to prove or disprove the charges that were being made," Carr said.

He stated that the investigation (Continued On Page 12)

PUBLIC INVITED TO PROGRAM ON CONSTITUTION

Date of the ceremony is September 17, at 8 p.m., in the Masonic Temple; the public is invited to attend. Speaker of the evening will be Frank Pratt.

College Enrollment Up 10 Per Cent

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 10 — The opening day enrollment at Porterville College was more than 10 per cent greater than last year, Director O. H. Shires announced.

There were 335 students in day classes Tuesday, compared to 301 on the first day last year, Shires said.

Additional students are expected to register during the remainder of the week. The final day for entering classes to receive credit will be on Friday, Sept. 18, Shires said.

Most of the students are graduates of Porterville High school, although there are large groups from Delano and Strathmore high school areas.

QUARTERBACK CLUB MEMBER DRIVE; DINNER FOR FOOTBALL PLAYERS WILL FEATURE PORTERVILLE'S FOOTBALL WEEK

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 10 — Something new is being added to the Porterville community—Football Week, September 11 through 18 — a period of seven days in which the Porterville Quarterback club, under the guidance of President Bill White, will wrap up its annual membership drive, and also entertain Porterville College football players at a dinner meeting at the Royal Coachman next Monday evening.

Football week will be the prelude to the actual season that will open Saturday evening, September 19, when Porterville College hosts the always potent Hartnell club at Jamison stadium.

Porterville high school officially opens the following Friday, September 25, against the Arvin Bears, at Arvin.

White says that this year the Quarterback club will concentrate its membership efforts during Football week, with memberships in the club costing $5.00. The usual club meetings will be scheduled later at which high school and college coaches will tell members why they won or lost on the previous weekend.

Concerning the dinner meeting for college football players, White says that no reservations are necessary, that Quarterback club

TULE WATER RIGHTS UP FOR HEARING

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 10 — The century-old struggle for Tule river water will again come to public attention when the California State Water Rights board holds a public hearing at the county courthouse in Visalia next Thursday concerning applications to claim "unappropriated" water in the Tule river system above, and upstream, from Success dam.

Twenty-one applications have been filed over a period of the past several years for use of Tule river water originating above Success dam; all of these filings have been protested by various water interests — irrigation districts and ditch companies — below Success dam.

The September 17 hearing, which starts at 9:30 a.m. in the supervisor chambers, is the first step in determining whether or not the applications filed for water in the upper Tule system will be recognized by the State Water Rights board.

Basic question involved is whether or not there is actually any unappropriated water left in the Tule river water shed. Representatives of water interests below Success dam in the "valley" area contend that long ago all water in the Tule river was filed on.

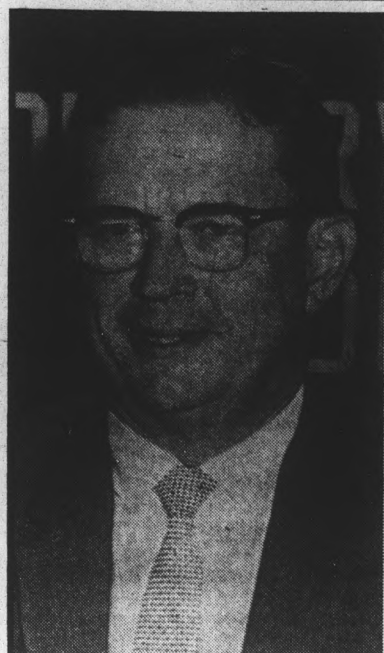

Persons residing in the general Springville area say that unappropriated water does exist, and the 21 filings have been officially made.

At next Tuesday's hearing, the principal matters to be considered are means of expediting the hearing. In announcement of the meeting it is stated, "All parties

Jim Vincent Invited To Be Grand Marshal

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 10 — Jim Vincent, pioneer cattleman of the Glennville area, will be invited to ride as grand marshal of the 1959 Homecoming parade in Porterville on November 11.

Members of the Homecoming celebration committee voted unanimously to extend the invitation to Mr. Vincent; other pioneers of the community will be honored at the annual reception that is a traditional feature of Porterville's Homecoming.

Committee members, headed by co-chairmen Dewey Jackson, past commander of Porterville Post 20, The American Legion, and John Bennett, past commander of Mt. Whitney Post 2001, Veterans of Foreign Wars, have also contracted with Cousin Herb, and his Tradin' Post Gang, to play the annual Homecoming dance; negotiations are underway for a carnival during the week of November 11; bids will be asked on a car to be given away on Homecoming night; and an effort is being made to SETTING THE theme for Football Week in Porterville are the above group, from left: Dutch Schmid, past president of the Porterville Quarterback club, who happened to be around when the picture was shot; Bill White, president of the Quarterback club, who is beating the drum for club memberships; Gang Sue, owner of Porterville's famous restaurant, who didn't know what was going to happen when he came out from behind the cash register, and Harry Kane, Porterville College football coach, who is pounding Gang on the head to determine whether or not he is tough enough to plug up the center of the college line. Of course, it's all in fun, but the Quarterback Club boys will be here and there about the community during the next few days to give football fans an opportunity to join the club at five bucks a throw.

THE VERSATILE VOLANTES are not behind the 8-ball, but on top of it as one of seven acts of free vaudeville which will be seen at the Tulare County Fair September 22-27. The Volantes not only perform unusual feats of balance, but play musical instruments and clown while doing so. This act is popular with adults and children alike.

Professional Stage Entertainment Will Be Presented Twice Each Day As Feature Of Tulare County Fair

TULARE, Sept. 10 — The finest professional entertainment may be enjoyed without extra cost by those who attend the Tulare County Fair, September 22-27, through the medium of seven acts of free vaudeville to be presented twice daily in Elliott auditorium.

Secretary-Manager A. J. Elliott says the vaudeville acts obtained for this year's fair are the merriest, most musical and most skilled booked in many years.

Heading the show as master of ceremonies will be Staggy McMann, a veteran of stage, night clubs, and television, who is not only an able comedian but also an outstanding performer on the harmonica.

Other acts are: The Versatile Volantes, a unique pair of monocylists who not only perform amazing feats of balance, but also play musical instruments and clown while doing so.

Senorita Consuela Gonzales, a sparkling Latin beauty who sings and dances and radiates a rare brand of comedy. She headlined the show at the Sinaloa club in San Francisco and has performed with the Pacific Opera, among many other club and television appearances.

The novelty juggling team of Ursula and Gus, one of the best in the business, also blends comedy with their skill. They have performed widely in Europe and America.

The Wheelers, a marimba trio who play giant marimbas with concert artistry and the world's smallest marimbas in clown costumes, present an act designed to please all who like unusual music and lively entertainment.

Carazini, a comical musician, may well "steal the show", Elliott states. This polished performer does things with cigarette smoke no other person can do, and all the while keeps his audience laughing

NON-PARTISAN PERFORMANCE EXPECTED

From the Lindsay Gazette
September 3, 1959

Lindsay has a new supervisor to represent it on the Tulare County Board of Supervisors. He is Charles Cummings, who is retiring as city manager of Porterville.

Quite a lot has been written and spoken in recent days about the non-partisan nature of the office and the manner of selection.

That the office is and should be administered in non-partisan fashion, there can be no dispute. By law the office, however, is filled by the Governor, who is chosen on a partisan ticket. It is understandable that any individual or group of individuals within the supervisorial district, partisan or otherwise, may intercede with the governor in behalf of the person of their choice.

When named, however, partisanship should cease and the new supervisor should be responsive only, in his non-partisan office, to the people of his district. Those responsible for the selection of Mr. Cummings should feel repaid if he does a good job. There should be no other obligation attending the appointment...

The Lindsay-Strathmore-Springville-Porterville district will expect Mr. Cummings to function, now that he has been named, in the independent, non-partisan manner that is prescribed by law for the office he assumes on September 15.

The writer of this column, in fact, was unaware of the political party with which the retiring supervisor, Rodgers Moore, was affiliated until it came out a few days ago. It happens that he also was a Democrat but he must have functioned in such manner, in his non-partisan office, that for seven and a half years his constituents were unaware of party label. It is to be expected Mr. Cummings will serve the district in the same manner. He has almost a year and a half in which to demonstrate to the people of this supervisorial district his capacity to fill the office well.

BURTON 4-H MEMBERSHIP REMAINS CLOSED

BURTON, Sept. 10 — Because of the size of the club, Burton 4-H directors voted at their August meeting to keep the membership closed, except to residents of the Burton district and to children in families already associated with the club.

The board also planned the coming year's program and officially named Don Griswold and Leslie Daybell as representatives to the state 4-H convention that opened on August 31; Stan Noble was named chaperone.

First general meeting of the club was set for the fourth Monday in September—September 28, at the Burton school at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the club board attending the recent meeting were: Bob and Dan Nuckols, Gary Crabtree, Sparky Noble, Leslie Daybell, Carolyn Cox and Elinor Joliff; adult leaders present were Mrs. Bob Nuckols and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Noble.

Still being sought is a theme for Homecoming parade, with a $10 prize offered to the person who submits the accepted theme. Planned for November 8 is a flag burning ceremony, under direction of a military organization.

Committees from the two sponsoring groups of the annual Homecoming celebration — the Porterville posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars — are meeting once a week now to take care of celebration planning. The group will meet tonight at the VFW hall in Porterville.

CITIZENS GROUP IS STUDYING WELFARE PROBLEMS

VISALIA, Sept. 10 — The Tulare County Citizens' Welfare Advisory committee met for the second time last week, at the Welfare Department office in Visalia, at a special meeting called to complete the organizational details of the committee.

Next regular scheduled meeting of the committee is September 16 at the Welfare department at 2:00 p.m. so that members of the committee could make a tour of the department.

The committee has invited the persons in charge of the different programs of the Welfare department to meet with the committee and explain their work. It is then planned to make a comprehensive tour of the department so that each member of the committee can have a better idea of the welfare picture.

It was also agreed that the more the members of the Advisory body could learn about the Welfare situation, the better they could inform the public; and that understanding of the welfare problems by the public was essential to the passing of good welfare legislation.

As soon as the committee learns more about the local situation, it plans to invite local legislators to meet with it, so that the Advisory group can have an even broader understanding of a program that is the concern of all the citizens.

Harrell J. Harrell, the chairman, presided at the Visalia meeting. The following members were present: Mrs. Joseph Krier, J. E. Wheeler, and Mrs. C. A. Renouf, of Porterville; E. W. Vose, Dinuba; H. C. Weekly, Ivanhoe; David McFall, Exeter; Oscar Wilson, Tulare; and Hilmi Fuad, Tulare County Welfare director.

EDUCATIONAL TV GROUP ORGANIZED

FRESNO, Sept. 10 — Articles of incorporation have been filed by the San Joaquin Valley Community Television association, which has as its purpose the sponsoring of non-commercial educational television broadcasting on a regional basis. Tom Fawcett, of Visalia, is vice president of the association.

NOVELTY JUGGLERS Ursula and Gus will present one of seven acts of free vaudeville to be seen twice a day at the Tulare County Fair September 22 - 27. They have appeared in every capital in Europe and in nearly every state fair in this country since arriving in America.

Tule Water

would be prepared to discuss stipulations concerning the issues involved with the objective of reducing duration of the hearing.

"Consideration will also be given to arrangements for exchange among parties of copies of exhibits and written statements of professional qualifications of expert witnesses."

Provision is made to reconvene the hearing on November 3 for the taking of testimony, with this part of the hearing to extend through November 6 if necessary.

Only applications to appropriate from various tributaries of the Tule river above and upstream from Success dam will be considered at the hearing; applications to appropriate Tule river water downstream from Success dam will not be considered at the Visalia hearing.

Representatives from the various irrigation districts and ditch companies along the Tule below Success dam met last night at the office of the Porterville Irrigation district to plan presentation of their case at the November 17 hearing.

From Daybell Nursery

By John

In keeping with the many surveys, reports to the people, and secret inside information now being published, we would like to give a report of our own. This is a disclosure on the power of advertising. For weeks we have been trying to pry the weekend gardener loose from his chair and his money without too much success. So this past weekend we decided to close up and go fishing.

We advertised this fact in three newspapers, over the radio, and with signs around the nursery. What happens then? We stop by to water the plants and people come from everywhere. We do more business while closed than the last three Sundays combined. We would close up the rest of the year but we couldn't afford the income tax.

Of course one of our first customers was the editor of a certain Farm newspaper who either doesn't read, can't read, or doesn't believe what he reads. We forgive him though, as he came cash in hand. For this we'll even open Sundays before breakfast.

Should you try again next week we'll be open Sunday and loaded with more things to make your yard beautiful — Stocks, Snaps, Sweet Peas, Bulbs of all sorts, and a Shrub for every purpose. Start now while the soil is warm and have flowers for Thanksgiving. We're right behind Pearson's Pump Emporium, west of the tracks, Porterville.

lergies can stimulate our nerve network to give us that disagreeable sensation we call itching.

Spiritual itching can break out in many parts of the body. Pity the poor man who suffers from itching hands. He lies awake nights scheming how to get his hands on more money, land, or power. Unfortunately, extra cash or acreage seldom cures this tormenting disease.

Itching foot is a dangerous malady that's reaching epidemic proportions. America on the move, restless and disillusioned. Living in trailer houses and motels, gone in the morning, carefree as a bird. No roots, no church, always itching to go.

Itching eye is the trouble with that busybody looking over your shoulder. He enjoys prying into other people's affairs. He sees too much, especially evil things.

The itching ear works like that too. Usually it's stone-deaf in the church pew on Sunday. But on Monday's it's cocked wide open at the neighbor's fence, itching for community scandal.

The itching tongue results from itching eyes and ears. It's on fire with gossip. It must tell every little foible and failing of poor Sister Brown.

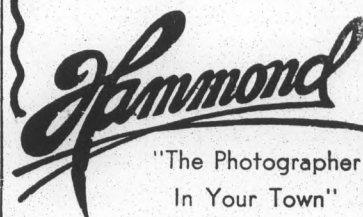

What is the cure for itching eyes, ears, tongues, and feet?

Saul of Tarsas suffered from a chronic case of spiritual itching. What he saw, heard, and said about Christians was all evil. His itching feet led him to Damascus. There he met Jesus, who applied a healing balm to Saul's feverish eyes, ears, tongue, and feet.

Let the balm of God's grace cure YOUR spiritual dermatitis. If you are itching, why suffer? Ask the Lord Jesus to heal your itching. He's the Great Physician.

A general change in weather conditions has helped to improve fishing materially, for trout and also for the warm water species. Trout season will end on the last day of October with most of the trout planting program coming to an end about the beginning of October.

Sierra deer hunters would do well to take along trout tackle and enjoy some uncrowded fishing fun after the buck hunt.

The fish and game department intends to discontinue operations of the Fresno Game Farm effective January 1, 1960 according to a letter from Deputy Director Walt Shannon. This will make no change in the pheasant liberation program for the San Joaquin Valley as operations will be merely transferred to the Yountville installation which has been operating at only about 60 percent capacity. The usual number of mature pheasants will be brought to this area for liberation on co-ops and other lands open to public hunting. Young birds will also be sent to club pens for rearing and release as in the past.

While this transfer of operations will make no change in hunting conditions or the number of birds available it will reduce department operating costs considerably and increase efficiency which is very much to the benefit of the sportsman who pays the bill from the purchase of licenses.

Decision for this change was brought about by a request from the Fresno County Sportsmen's club to have its 40 acres on which the farm is located, released for the purpose of sale with proceeds to be used by the club for improvements to its Wahtoke Lake area. The Fresno club has been active in rearing and liberating pheasants for more than 30 years and the directors feel they have done their share of this work for the benefit of all members or not.

Wild trapped chukar partridges taken from the Naval Base at China lake which is closed to hunting are being liberated in suitable habitat back of Coalinga. Mountain quail, also trapped at China Lake are being released in the New Idria area in an attempt to establish the species.

State game men report a bumper crop of chukars and gambel quail in the El Paso range near Ransburg where 1,500 chukars and 1,000 quail were trapped and leg banded within a week. Chukar reproduction in the Panoche public domain country however has been disappointing.

Ocean salmon fishermen are reminded that after September 15,

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 10—Little Joe College, a handsome Hereford steer being fed out as a special project by the Kern County Cowbelles, is ready for the fair.

Little Joe has been entered in the open division fat cattle show of the Kern County fair and will make his debut in the show ring during the fat cattle judging scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, September 30 and October 1.

The Hereford was donated as a calf early this year by Cowbelle members from the south fork area of the Kern river and was picked from the commercial Hereford herd of Stanley and Gwen Smith at Onyx. Since February 22 he has been on feed at the Camp & Bebane Cattle Co., Bakersfield, and is being fitted and groomed for show by 4-H club member, Bob Dale, of Bakersfield.

The entire proceeds from the sale of Little Joe will go into the Cowbelles' scholarship fund. They

SHEEPMEN MEET TOMORROW AT FRESNO HOTEL

FRESNO, Sept. 10 — San Joaquin District Wool Growers association will meet tomorrow at the Victoria hotel, starting at 11 a.m., in their 25th annual joint session with the University of California, State Department of Agriculture, and Fish and Wildlife service.

Many aspects of sheep and wool production will be discussed. Attendance is expected from Tulare, Fresno, Kings and Madera counties.

Supply of celery in the central areas is light.

Let'er Buck

By CASEY TIBBS

(THIS COLUMN PRESENTED BY THE ORANGE BELT SADDLE CLUB, PRODUCER OF THE ANNUAL PORTERVILLE ROUNDUP.)

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — I've often said anything could happen at a rodeo. Well, I sure saw a bunch of it at the Los Angeles Sheriff's Rodeo.

Duane Howard left the chute on a wild hay burner that ran smack dab through the fence where all the cowboys' wives were sitting.

The ambulance was out about 20 feet with both back doors wide open, and, when the horse quit fallin', Duane ended up in the ambulance!

He wasn't hurt, but the wives and well-wishers were sure in bad shape.

The horse didn't touch any of 'em, but they ran all over each other gettin' out of his way!

Sometimes I wonder if the bronc riders today aren't gettin' a little "kick-happy" when it comes to bucking horses. Seems like all they care about is if a bronc kicks enough.

Personally, I like to see them do a little buckin' on both ends.

Take a bronc like "Sleeper" out of Harry Knight's string. He's bucked off the best of 'em and is sure a crowd pleaser... but the judges won't mark a cowboy on him 'cause the horse don't kick enough.

Many a horse can buck real good, then rear one time before the whistle and most judges won't let you win on him 'cause he didn't kick one jump.

Yet... It's a known fact among the cowboys that a kickin' horse is a set-up to ride. To me, it doesn't figure.

The Australian waddies are still havin' a big time of it here in the states.

Every time you see them they're all grinnin' like a cat comin' out of the milkin' barn. Or... as they say it... "Like a bloody shot fox!"

The annual Frontier Days Rodeo at Walla Walla got off to a good start last week with a big entry list and Harley Ticker's fine stock.

Walla Walla and Ellensburg picked the same weekend this year and most of the waddies were busy flyin' back and forth to make both performances.

These are two of the North-western "Big Four" Rodeos, with points won here, at Lewiston and Pendleton, counting for the Big Four Trophy which was won by Marty Wood last year.

In the first go-round of the saddle bronc at Walla Walla, Deb Copenhaver made a good ride on a spinner called "Blizzard", but Marty Wood beat him out a couple of points on Ol' "Smokey."

It was quite a 'bronc ridin' — with so many entries they had to run it in three sections — a thing you don't see too often...

County Tax Rate Set At $2.51

VISALIA, Sept. 10 — Tulare county tax rate has been set by the board of supervisors at $2.51 per $100 of assessed valuation, a drop of 16 cents from last year, even though county budget is at a record high of $23,341,723. The lower tax rate is possible because of increased assessed values and because of better than anticipated fund balances in several county departments.

State department of fish and game is urging deer hunters to use extreme caution this season because of the great fire hazard in mountain areas.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams
32nd District
California State Legislature

Critics of our California public school system, as well as citizens who are merely statistically curious, are being treated to another factual field-day by recent revelations as to the cost of high-level administration of school districts. The Senate Interim Committee on Administration has released some interesting figures which are already being widely discussed, and about which the controversy is certain to get hotter.

The Committee issued a list of 107 school districts in all parts of the state who are paying salaries to their superintendents of $15,- 000 or more annually, 23 of them paying more than $20,000. The list ranged from a small junior college district with a total enrollment last year of 68, to our largest metropolitan district with an enrollment of close to half a million.

An examination of the published facts indicated that the cost per student of superintendents' salaries in the districts named ranged from a low of 6.9 cents annually to a high of $227.94. While use of this basis for judging salaries is debatable, it is indicative of the extreme variation between them. Salaries bear no apparent relationship to size of district enrollment, or to the type of district, elementary, high, junior college or unified. One district with 1,500 students is reported to have paid as large a salary to its chief as another with 60,000 enrollment.

While the number of districts involved is only about 6 percent of the total number in the state, it has been indicated that the Committee will study the situation to determine whether school districts are actually "squandering the education dollar on everything but classroom instruction." It is recognized, it was said, that there is a necessary place for supervision in the school district, but the cost of this supervision must be kept in a reasonable relationship to the number of teachers (which is fixed by the number of students) or else there would be nothing left to employ the people who must do the classroom work. Possibility of some state controls will be explored.

It has also been emphasized that school district budgets are made locally, within the districts, and that administrative salaries are fixed in the same manner. The possibility that competition between districts for experienced personnel has created an unbalanced salary situation has been mentioned.

All school districts receive substantial financial support from state funds, based on "average daily attendance" of students. A basic allowance of $125 per year per unit of such "ADA" goes to every district. An additional allowance up to as high as $400 per ADA is made to needy school districts, those whose tax base does not produce enough revenue for the minimum educational program. A substantial number of districts paying the high salaries are receiving allocations above the basic amount.

"Impoverished" school districts, those bonded to a specified limit, can qualify for state loans to build classrooms, only about half of which must be repaid. Forty-eight districts paying high salaries to their superintendents have qualified for such loans.

Whatever the outcome of the legislative investigation, it looks as though the topic of school administrative salaries will be under close scrutiny for some time to come.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

As this is written, the steel strike is still in force. By publication time, the strike may, or may not, be ended.

But regardless of the status of the strike at press time, this is the first major labor dispute in which United States foreign policy, long dominated by fuzzy-headed internationalists, has been an issue, whether spoken out loud as an issue, or not.

The fact remains that in 1946, 1949, 1952, 1955 and 1956, Big Steel settled fairly quickly meeting all, or most of labor's demands.

Altogether, in these five strikes labor won over 50 cents per hour cumulative wages increases, plus pensions, plus overtime, plus holidays, plus vacations, and many other benefits.

And as always, Big Steel boosted the price of their product so that in the end the American consumer paid for whatever Big Steel gave Big Labor. There does not appear to have been any serious consideration in these past strikes of public interest. With 65% of nation's steel production in hands of only four giants, and with another four lesser lights bringing the total up to 82%, there was little chance for consumer to shop.

But now the picture has changed. While Big Steel was blithely giving away the consumer's dollars at the labor bargaining table, the internationalist do-gooder clique was busy giving away the protection the industry had with tariffs.

So today, American steel industry faces low cost, competition from Japanese, German and Belgian steel mills.

Even that standby customer of steel, Detroit is feeling the pinch as the U. S. now imports almost four times as many automobiles as it exports.

Frank Higgins, former assistant Secretary of the Army, in a recent speech on his observations travelling the world since his retirement last March, termed himself a "modern day industrial Paul Revere" and expressed frank alarm over the inroads that foreign manufacturers are making into the American economy.

He reports that under the U. S. foreign aid program, two and a half ton trucks that cost $7100 to build in Detroit are being built in Japan for $3368.

It is known in field of nails, pipe, concrete reinforcing steel, American steel mills are practically out of business as they cannot compete with foreign goods.

Mr. Higgins recommends that a committee from industry, labor, and government be sent abroad to study peril to American industry in the foreign plans and operations. He further believes this committee should report to Congress.

It would probably be well, for a delegation of labor leaders to dip into their treasuries to make such a trip, and broaden their viewpoint of true economic conditions existing with U. S. protective barriers practically eliminated these past few years.

If this were to be done, it would not be unlikely that pickets would be assigned to patrol the U. S. State Dept. carrying cards, "State Dept. unfair to American workers."

"MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL" CONTEST RECEIVING ENTRIES; GIRLS CAN GET DETAILS FROM CAROLINE LOWE

TULARE, Sept. 10 — Home seamstresses planning their fall and winter wardrobes would do well to add a wool garment to their plans so that they may enter the "Make It Yourself With Wool" home sewing contest, advises Mrs. Caroline Lowe, district director, for the contest.

Besides a chance to make their own garments, entrants can also compete for a whole series of prizes on district, state and national levels. In the past, girls in this area have proved very successful in the sewing competition. In 1958 Jeanette Nunn of Visalia was district 7 senior division winner and represented this district in the state finals; Rosemary Riberio of Tulare placed high in the sub-deb division.

The three classes, sub-deb, junior, and senior permit competition among groups of similar age ability. The sub-deb class is for girls 13 to 16 who are having their first experience with wool garments. Sub-debs may exhibit a skirt, jumper or vest and skirt. Ensemble, coats, suits and dresses can be made and modeled by the junior and senior girls.

The junior division includes 14 to 17 year olds while the senior class consists of the 18 to 22 year old. The purpose of the contest is to show young girls how easy it is to sew with wool.

Full information and entry blanks on the contest may be obtained from Mrs. Caroline Lowe, Route 3, Box 618, Tulare, California, or by telephoning Tulare Murdock 6-3152.

FARM PRICES VARY IN STATE DURING AUGUST

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10—Prices received by California farmers for eggs and lemons in mid-August showed improvement over prices in July, according to the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service. Moderate declines were shown for grain sorghums, early summer and late summer potatoes, and grapefruit. Other changes were small with quite a few prices remaining the same as a month earlier.

Despite a seasonal improvement in egg prices, the level remains the lowest since 1940. Chicken prices are also depressed to the lowest level for August since 1940. For corn the August price was the lowest since 1943; wheat, the lowest since 1945; grain sorghums, the lowest since 1941. Hog prices continued downward and are now lower than any since August, 1945, in the face of a big national supply. On the other hand, cattle and calf prices are the highest since the 1951-52 peak.

Compared with a year ago, prices received were much higher for early summer and late summer potatoes and lemons. Prices were considerable lower for oranges, grapefruit, hogs, and eggs.

Mid-August prices for corn, wheat, flax, grain sorghums, rice, grapefruit, hogs, wool, chickens, turkeys and eggs are much below the 1953-57 average for this month. However, several commodities were considerably above average; namely hay, alfalfa seed, oranges, beef cattle, calves, and milk cows.

Mountains May Trouble Some People

Q. I am past 60. I moved to Colorado about one year ago. While here I am bothered by pressure in my ears, headache, exhaustion, and at times, difficult breathing and rapid heart beat. Could it be the altitude?

—H. M.
A. Most people can go from sea level or a little above to altitudes of 5000 to 6000 feet with only minor difficulty. There is usually some ear fullness and perhaps some slight shortness of breath but adaptation occurs quite rapidly. Others may be affected to a greater degree and may have difficulty in making adjustments. Persons with certain conditions, notably coronary heart disease, should consider the possible ill-effects of residing at high altitudes. Specific advice should be obtained from your physician.

OUR TOWN

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

THOSE WHO ARE wise in the ways of the seasons must realize that Fall is upon us. There are indications 'round and about such as turning leaves, longer nights and other wonders. We generally take these in stride though, and depend on the calendar, which from our myopic viewpoint says September.

THERE IS ALSO ANOTHER unfailing indication of Fall. This is the time of year when local nimrods hie themselves away to the woods with their trusty squirrel guns and blumberbusses to lay in the winter's food supply. A close analysis of this custom worked out scientifically by multiplying cost of shells, shots fired, miles walked, gas burned and snake remedy consumed (generally as a preventative) discloses that venison is running somewhere in the neighborhood of $11.98 per pound. Doves are costing about ninety-eight cents a bird which boosts the poundage rate considerably, especially when you weigh in the shot.

MEANWHILE, BACK IN the metropolitan district of our town another indication of Fall is the heavy traffic jamming up around the corner of Olive and Jaye streets. In case you have forgotten, Olive and Jaye is the site of the local High School which is fondly referred to as good old PUHS.

ALL SUMMER LONG, nobody has paid much attention to Olive and Jaye. It has basked in the summer sun like any other street corner and been given a swipe by night by the local street sweeper. But when school opens it becomes a veritable beehive of activity and a veritable blockade for the unwary auto driver. There are more traffic jams per minute here than any place in the county. Intent students wander to and fro about this corner and traffic becomes more and more confused and the tempers become shorter and shorter.

THE FIRST DAY OF the traffic blitz with the opening of school brought an immediate reaction in certain quarters, and many people began to wonder why no traffic lights have been installed to abet the confusion. Well, we find that these lights have been discussed and when the price is mentioned they have also been cussed. It seems that traffic lights come very high indeed. In addition to this, the city has three corners of O and Jaye and the County has squatter's rights on the other. Consequently, you have two governmental agencies dealing with the problem. Any citizen should remember that dealing with one enough, but when two become involved, you slow the march of progress by four. However, we feel sure that these traffic lights governmental agency is tough will soon bloom on Olive and Jaye, because the seed has been sown and is being ardently cultivated. Meanwhile, we are using Morton street.

Bulk of watermelon supply is now coming from Riverside, Stanislaus and San Joaquin counties.

Quarterback Club

members are being asked to entertain a college player for the evening. There will be no speeches at the meeting, just conversation about football, White says.

Having fallen victim to the fall fever that always precedes the football season, Mayor Bill Rodgers has proclaimed Football Week in Porterville with the following deathless prose:

WHEREAS, the annual months of madness, known as Football Season, are upon us;

AND, WHEREAS, the Monday

Morning Quarterback will once again take his place of honor at the coffee counters of the community;

AND, WHEREAS, the old grads, wherever they may be from, will figuratively don their freshmen caps again to cheer their alma mater as it wins, and alibi it as it loses;

AND, WHEREAS, pigskin panic is now evident in Porterville as several hundred young men in high school, and in college, knock heads with each other on the practice field to earn the privilege of knocking heads with the opposition on the playing field;

AND, WHEREAS, Porterville football fans will soon be stomping and screaming in Jamison Stadium as sportsmanship is exemplified and as character is built on the field below;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, William R. Rodgers, as Mayor of the City of Porterville, do proclaim September 11 through September 18 as Football Week in Porterville, and herewith grant full rights and complete authority to any bona-fide football fan to second guess the coaches, the quarterbacks, oth-

Carr Says

was conducted so as to hurt all concerned as little as possible; he said that only one state official has been fired, but that others in the department of employment may be fired.

"This is up to the present head of the department of employment," Carr said. "I no longer have anything to do with it."

He said that "agriculture is in a bind, but so is all business," a bind that results from the declining margin between gross business and profit.

"But agriculture is different than other types of business," Carr stated, "because it is supported at both ends — on one end by price supports and on the other end by cheap Mexican labor."

He pointed out that individual farmers must join an association to get Mexican National labor, since individual farmers cannot negotiate with the Mexican government for labor. He urged farmers to take an interest in operation of their associations where the Mexican National program is involved.

"The entire program is in some jeopardy because of strong political forces that want to eliminate it," Carr said. "I do not believe this makes sense because California agriculture must have a source of labor to meet its peak demands. But if we are to keep and maintain this program, it must be better managed than in the past," he said.

He charged that in some cases, Mexican Nationals are being paid less than 50 cents an hour; he suggested that the federal labor department should rewrite its agreement with the Mexican government on a basis of a flat rate of pay to Mexican Nationals, rather than on the present basis of pay scale that prevails in a given agricultural area where Nationals are used.

In discussing financial position and fiscal policies of the state of California, Carr said, without quoting specific figures, that the state "is spending a terrific amount of money but doesn't make a cent itself."

He said a pay-as-you-go program of financing is now being advocated, a program that would cut down on state bond issues.

"Unless we do this," Carr said, er football fans and himself; to act now and then as if he is a candidate for a psychiatrist, and to conduct himself in general as no sensible person would conduct himself in general except during that fantastic season known as football season.

Professional Stage

with a fast series of magical feats. The children's favorite, O'Brien's Six Chihuahuas, is an act featuring tiny dogs which perform on teeter boards, push baby buggies, ride a merry-go-round, do tricks that will amuse everyone.

"we will go further and further behind."

He said that as director of finance he is asking state departments to scrutinize their budgets carefully and to ask only for money to meet legitimate needs.

"There just isn't enough money to go around to do all the things everyone wants done," he said.

Carr pointed out that 75 per cent of the state's budget goes to schools; that in many cases the state gives back to counties more school money than the county itself raises; that if the state met all demands for school funds, more than 100 per cent of the state's income would go for schools.

"Someone has to say no, and that someone is the department of finance, Carr said. "Now we are going to ask department heads to do their own paring, to come up with realistic budgets that do not need cutting."

He said he believes that state department heads should prove their need for requested funds rather than the department of finance being forced to prove that they do not need the money they ask for.

Carr emphasized that state department heads should have more personal contacts with, and more often hear, from taxpayers; he said taxpayers should support legislators at both the state and national level who propose sound taxing and sound spending policies. He also praised the "competent professionals" within state departments.

He said that the persons in state government who actually make up budgets are career people, on civil service. He said that directors of departments always face decisions as to what constitutes legitimate public expenditure and what constitutes "empire building."

State Senator J. Howard Williams, a guest at the Rotary meeting, said, during a question and answer period, that departments work on their budgets for a period of 10 months each year. He suggested that the state go back to its former policy of budgeting for a period of two years at a time as an economy move.

Carr said that he agreed with this, then asked Senator Williams

General Olive Picking Next Week In Area

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 10 — Some olives are being picked in southern Tulare county this week and it is expected that picking will become general before the end of next week.

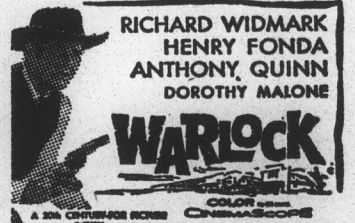

Indications at present are that with a light crop sizes will be good and quality excellent.

In so far as the Independent Olive Growers of California are concerned, Manager Ed Olson says that his group is now negotiating with canners concerning price; that negotiations are "satisfactory", and that he expects a final, firm price to be paid independent growers for this season's crop will be announced Friday.

if he would introduce a bill to this effect. Williams said that he would be glad to.
